HOSPITAL LIST GROWS WITH EACH PRACTICE

Misfortune has Followed Team Since First Scrimmage. Comparative Scores Show Hard Games Ahead.

HARGRAVE LAST ONE OUT

SCORE DOPE.

Vanderbilt 32—Rose Poly 0.
St. Louis Un. 45—Cape Girandua 0
Michigan Aggies 0—Michigan 0.
Notre Dame 64—Franklin 0.
Nebraska 20—Grinnell 5.

If ever fortune seemed to be against a team it is this season at Wabash. With big games coming along in rapid succession the hospital list is growing with each practice. Dobbins and Starbuck are hardly able to walk and Hawkins, the little quarter back, is still limping around with a bad sprain. These were enough, but now Colbert has a bad ankle and Hargrave had to be carried from the field Saturday because he twisted his ankle. Hopkins was put out Thursday and Bill Burns, who has been putting up a steady game has a bum hand. Of course, there are several good subs left, but at the present clip Jones will be giving signals, passing the ball to himself and in fact having a practice game with Jones.

It is fortunate that none of the big games come this week as the Wabash chances would be a long shot with the team in its present condition. Rose has a strong team this year and a scrappy coach. While Vanderbilt ran up a large score it must be remembered that the southern school has turned out some Class A teams in years past. Rose has two tackles that stack up with any thing in the state, and an end that is reputed to be speedy. With so many men out Wabash should be satisfied with a victory.

St. Louis won from Cape Giranda State Normal, whatever that is, by a score of 45 to 0. That's a good score to make against any team and it looks as if St. Louis had another strong line-up this season. Probably some of the regulars will be in condition for this game. St. Louis considers it one of her big games and there's no apparent reason why Wabash shouldn't.

In looking down the schedule another week it will be seen that the Michigan Aggies are next in line. And this will likely be some game. Any team that can hold Yost down to a nothing to nothing tie is playing great football. With conditions the way they are now, it looks as if the team would be in about the same shape as it was last season for this game. But anyway the Aggies will know it was not a pink tea after the game is over.

DePauw had a game scheduled with Butler but some of the players Butler had sent for failed to arrive in time to learn the signals so they crossed their fingers and asked for a postponement. But Notre Dame took on Franklin in about the same place Wabash did the week previous and comparing dope finds the two teams about evenly matched. The Catholics seem to have a wealth of good mater-

OFFICERS OF ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION ELECTED

A New Slate Elected for this Years Work Assistant Yell Leader Also named—Many Out.

Thursday afternoon at 4:30 p. m., was held the annual election of officers for the Athletic Association. Vice-President Adams called the meeting to order and two nominations were offered for president, Burns, '09 and Hargrave, '09. Burns was elected by a close vote. Wilson, '10 and Barr, '11, were nominated for vice president, the former being elected. Gipe, '09, was elected secretary and treasurer, the other nominations being Antonides, '09 and Brown, '09 who withdrew his name. As yell master Merkel graduates this year, and the assistant was elected. O'Neal, '10 and Underwood, '11, were nominated "Undy" being elected. A demonstration of his ability was called for, but he had made a get-away over the fence.

The new officers enter upon their new duties at once, and in all probability Underwood will be called upon in the Rose game to show what he can do.

MASSACHUSETTS MAN IS INTRODUCED BY TUTTLE

Prof. Charles A. Tuttle, head of the department of History, Political Economy, in the local institution, introduced the Hon. Samuel W. McCall, of Massachusetts, who spoke in the interests of the Republican party at Music Hall Friday night. Professor Tuttle is an old friend of Mr. McCall, who is National Representative from the eighth district of the Bay state. The two men formerly lived near each other and both have accomplished great work in field of public life, one by the training of men for it, the other by being an actor in it.

REPUBLICAN STUDENTS ORGANIZE THEIR FORCES

At a meeting held at the Republican headquarters in this city, Thursday evening by students of Wabash who adhere to the faith of Republicanism, a Wabash college Republican club was organized. No officers were elected, but this matter will be attended to this week. About eighty-five men have joined the club and the announcement was made that this number will be rapidly boosted. Carl Merkle presided at the meeting Thursday night.

The announcement is made that the club will join with the Marshall club members in showing every honor to Hon. Thomas R. Marshall, the Democratic candidate for governor, who speaks here Wednesday. Mr. Marshall is a graduate of Wabash and a member of the board of trustees.

WHAT WE WILL PAY FOR AND NOT WHAT WE NEED

Professor Tapy Expresses Himself On Modern Life and Incidentally Journalism—Hearst Mentioned.

"Newspapers, as a rule, give us what we will pay for, not what we ought to have." This is one great reason why some people have doubt as to whether the world is really growing better. I am inclined to think that William Randolph Hearst could have found plenty of the same kind of material for filling his papers in ancient Athens that he uses to fill them up with today."

This statement was made to the Education II class, by Professor George A. Tappy, head of the department. The class is at present studying the history of Greek education, and in commenting on the greatness of Greek civilization, the question arose as to whether or not modern civilization was its superior.

SPECIAL MEETING OF LYCEUM TO BE HELD

Both literary societies held meetings last Friday night with good programs. The Lyceum met in the French room, owing to the fact their hall is being repaired. There was no business meeting, but a special meeting will be called early this week. Mr. Herbert acted as chairman in the absence of President Adams. The Calliopeans is well under way and have recently made their hall more attractive by new curtains and a dozen new men were proposed for membership in both societies and more are expected.

DEPAUW DEBATES.

Elmer Machan, ex-'10, is the third member of the present Junior class to recently enter the matrimonial market, and make a purchase. Friends here have received announcements telling of his marriage to Miss Ethel A. Chance, of Lima. The newly wedded couple will reside at Rome City, where Mr. Machan is principal of the high school.

GLASCOCK COACHING.

Dave Glascock, '08, one of the Scarlets "W" football men has assumed charge of the local high school squad in place of L. A. Heinle, director of the city Y. M. C. A., who has found it impossible to look after the bunch on account of other duties.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Wabash students are requested to march in a body to the Marshall meeting next Wednesday afternoon in honor of Thomas R. Marshall, who is a graduate and trustee of Wabash College.

(Signed) JAMES ADAMS,
Chairman Committee.

STUDENTS MAY ENGAGE IN A POLITICAL DEBATE

The Marshall Club, on Behalf of Democratic Students, Ask Wabash Republicans to Discuss Tariff.

CONSIDERING THE MATTER

The Marshall Club on behalf of its student members and the Democratic students in general, has issued a challenge to the Wabash Republican Club members to debate the question that the tariff policy of the Democratic party, as put forth in the Denver platform, is preferable to the Republican policy, as enunciated in the Chicago statement of the latter party.

The Republicans have not yet given a definite answer regarding the acceptance of the challenge, but it has been stated semi-officially that it will probably be accepted.

According to the statements of prominent members of both organizations the only matter now hanging in the balance is the nature of the question to be discussed.

Both clubs are long on good material, and the discussion would undoubtedly be a warm one and would arouse much interest.

AND ANOTHER ONE.

DePauw has selected the following questions to be debated in the coming class primary contests, which are to be held during the latter part of November. Separate contest will be held for each class. Three men will be chosen from each of the four debates the twelve men thus chosen will come up for a contest at which time the three highest will compose the college debate team and the nine remaining men will debate for prize money at commencement time.

The questions announced are: Senior question, "Resolved, that the history of the trade unions for the last twenty years show a tendency detrimental to the best interests of the country," Junior question, "Resolved, that the United States should adopt a system of compulsory arbitration similar to that of New Zealand." Sophomore question, "Resolved, that, through the Interstate Commerce Commission, the government should prohibit from interstate commerce, goods manufactured from any form of the 'sweating system.'" Freshmen question, "Resolved, that the Federal Government should prohibit absolutely all officers and directors of corporations doing interstate business, from engaging directly or indirectly in subsidiary enterprises." The senior and junior debates will be held on November 16th, the sophomore contest on November 19 and the Freshmen on November 22.

WHAT BUTLER THINKS.

All of the Wabash College Athletic teams will wear maroon colored caps this year when on athletic trips. While this is a good advertisement for the college it is also of great assistance to the manager in rounding up his men at railway stations and lunch counters. It would be a good idea for Butler to adopt the plan. The victorious Wabash basketball team which invaded the south wore white caps when traveling and attracted no little attention.—The Butler Collegian.

Perhaps we can get our financial standing figured up in a few days now that the base ball season is almost over.

Purdue has a new coach for the freshmen team. The former coach has a position with the Erie Railroad and will leave school. The Purdue team is probably about as fast as the Erie.

The Bachelor is willing to publish notices of political meetings but more than this we cannot do. A censor was "appointed" for this same publication some time ago and the staff feels the responsibility of putting out only a college newspaper. We have no politics.

A notice appeared upon the bulletin board last week posted by the Marshall club challenging the Republicans to a debate upon the tariff. A little color might be infused into the campaign by some local discussion of these interesting and weighty matters.

The Notre Dame Scholastic lets loose of the following on college journalism:

As a profession, modern journalism stands high, this being especially true in America. As a natural consequence its ranks are being recruited year after year from among the young men who having finished their college courses wish to enter a field that presents the attractions of an active life. The aspiring journalist must be wide awake; he must be able to grasp ideas and apply them practically, for the newspaper waits for no man, and there is no room for drones. Horace Greeley said that the successful journalist must learn his profession by "sleeping on paper and eating ink," but the advance of time has suggested another method that is not only growing in popularity but in practicability. The journalist of the future will be trained in the rudiments of the profession by a regular college course, just as the doctor, the lawyer or the scientist is trained. He will learn the elements of news-gathering, of copy-reading and of editing under skilled instructors who can point out to him his mistakes and suggest the proper remedy. The graduate from the journalistic course will be able to enter a newspaper office, and by reason of this fundamental knowledge will secure more salary and more responsible work. It is true that here are many problems in the newspaper field that can never be solved save by rubbing against the problems themselves and mastering them by experience, but the graduate of a good journalistic course should be able to start in at least four years in advance of the beginner who has not had the advantage of such training. A number of such courses are now being offered at various American colleges and the system is proving to be of more than ordinary interest.

WABASH EXCURSIONS.

A representative of the Clover Leaf R. R. from St Louis is expected here sometime this week to complete arrangements for the special cars to St. Louis, for the Wabash-St. Louis football game. Complete arrangements will be published later.

J. F. Powers of the Rock Island, and John Priest of the Monon R. R. will be here Tuesday to complete arrangements for the "going trip" to Lincoln Neb. Probably another route will be taken for the return trip.

ial this season and the game should be one of the greatest of this season's state games.

Nebraska, which comes last on the schedule, defeated the strong Grinnell team by a good score. It is impossible to get any comparison by scores of the strength of Wabash as to that of Nebraska, but the westerners have always had teams that have ranked with the best in the west.

The results of all these games makes it look as the Scarlet was going against the best teams in the west, outside of Chicago and possibly one or two others. And with an even break of luck in escaping the crutch brigade Wabash will make a great showing.

Shortridge high school has a girls debating club.

Michigan has added a course in Russian to its curriculum.

The registration at Michigan was 4,132 last Saturday, an increase of 28 over the same time last year.

The Republicans have organized a club at the University of Missouri.

The new Y. M. C. A. building at the University of Illinois was dedicated Sunday.

The construction of a new science hall at Monmouth College is to be started at once.

At the Iowa University class scrap, a push ball contest, an admission of ten cents is charged.

In the annual cane rush at the University of Minnesota, the sophomores were victorious over the freshmen.

The sophomores at Washington University St. Louis, at their recent night shirt parade, rubbed grease in the hair of several freshmen.

The Shortridge High School, of Indianapolis, has taken up Association football to take the place of the Rugby game. Interclass games will be played.

This year's cane rush was the last at the University of Washington and next year some other method of settling the underclass difficulties will be adopted.

The flag rush at Ohio Wesleyan was decided a draw and the matter is to be settled by a tug of war across the Olentangy river, between 75 men from each class.

Bethany college is putting up a fight for the re-instatement of football among their college sports. It was assured them last spring but the students returned this fall to find it ruled out again.

The freshmen and Sophomores at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in St. Louis recently had a class scrap on the top of a three story building. The faculty stopped the fight.

Coach Nicol, of Purdue, has purchased about two dozen "cop" hats for the use of student policemen at the athletic games on Stuart field. They are military looking affairs and have a neat "P" design in front.

The separation of the men from the co-eds, which has taken place at Butler by the exclusion of the girls from the reading room, is a result of the movement which is going on in higher educational institutions against co-education.

As the result of a midnight student riot recently at Illinois, due to the freshman class posting proclamations on last Thursday night, Mayor Blaine, of Champaign, shot into a crowd of students, five of whom were arrested and heavily fined.

Purdue won the first game in three years Saturday from Earlham. The Quakers showed unexpected strength in the first half but were worn down during the second. Purdue's line is weak this year and her only gains were in running back punts and kick-offs.

For the first time in recent years, the DePauw Athletic Association is free from debt. The last note on a $1,500 debt has been paid and subscriptions by the students aggregate more than enough to carry DePauw athletics through the term.

"The University Missourian," is the new daily publication of the University of Missouri. It is edited by the Department of Journalism, recently installed, and prints city and foreign news as well as college news. Missouri was the last university in the United States having an to publish a university daily.
