FORTY-FOUR REPORT AS FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS

BETA THETA PI SETS NEW RECORD AND GAINS FIRST LEG OF PAN-HELLENIC CUP

ALL FRATERNITY AVERAGES RISE AND ALL-SCHOOL AVERAGE GOES TO 1.608; TEKES TAKE SECOND WITH PHI DELTS THIRD

1933 2nd Semester 1934

1. Beta	1.986
2. T. K. E.	1.842
3. Phi Deltas	1.684
4. Sigma Chi	1.579
5. Phi Gams	1.531
6. Deltas	1.478
7. Kappa Sigs	1.357
8. Lambda Chi	1.174
Independents	1.646
All College	1.608

While every fraternity was raising its average of the previous semester, Beta Theta Pi won the first leg on the fourth interfraternity scholarship cup. The Betas had an average of 1.986 followed by the Tekes who were second with 1.842. Phi Delta Theta rose from fourth to third with a 1.684 average and the Sigma Chis surprised even themselves by gaining fourth with a 1.579 average. The Phi Gams, the Deltas, the Kappa Sigs, and the Lambda Chis followed in that order.

The Independents had an average of 1.646 which was a bit higher than the all school average of 1.608. The school average is surprisingly high as last semester it was only 1.436. Another fact which is unusual is that the lowest house average was better than a C average. The highest average, that of the Betas, is a new record and is very close to a B average which is something very seldom seen in a college or university.

These averages are computed on the basis that every credit hour of A counts three points, each hour of B counts two points, each hour of C counts one point, a D counts nothing, a Condition is worth negative one point and an F takes off two points. The total number of points is divided by the total number of hours and thus the average is derived.

Since the Pan-Hellenic council has begun giving cups in 1928 Beta Theta Pi has won every cup. Despite the jealousy by other organizations of this record all of them commend the Betas on their fine showing.

The last semester twelve men as against ten the preceding semester had perfect averages. These men and their fraternities are as follows: H. H. Johnson, Beta Theta Pi; S. T. Patton, Independent; S. O. Stoltz, Sigma Chi; B. Wynne, Beta Theta Pi; M. S. Merrell, Phi Delta Theta; H. W. Rowe, Independent; R. S. Taylor, Beta Theta Pi; W. G. Blackburn, Phi Delta Theta; R. A. Ames, Phi Gamma Delta; C. R. Bradshaw, Kappa Sigma; J. W. Davis, Phi Delta Theta; R. W. Frank, Beta Theta Pi.

The following men finished the semester with averages between 2.500 and 2.999 inclusive: J. V. Brown, Independent; R. E. Burk, Phi Delta Theta; W. H. Hays, Phi Delta Theta; H. S. Helton, Independent; R. L. McVie, Beta Theta Pi; T. W. Mastin, Lambda Chi Alpha; R. H. Plummer, Phi Gamma Delta; W. L. Starr, Independent; J. B. Van Duzer, Independent; A. J. Veraguth, Independent; C. E. Williamson, Independent; R. G. Bigler, Beta Theta Pi; R. W. Gewecke, Phi Gamma Delta; R. B. Hudson, Beta Theta Pi; F. J. Lanigan, Phi Gamma Delta; R. F. Nave, Independent; M. S. Ragan, Beta Theta Pi; A. F. Rhodes, Beta Theta Pi; W. W. Shearer, Beta Theta Pi; B. B. Smith, Phi Delta Theta; R. B. Smith, Beta Theta

BETAS GRAB INTRAMURAL TROPHY BY WIDE MARGIN

Lead Kappa Sigs by 100½ Points; Phi Gams Take Third and Phi Deltas Fourth

After the last easy grounder had been muffed, the last double fault had been served, the track men had hung up their spikes in disgust at the track meet being called off, and Jimmy Paterson had done a little high powered mathematics it was officially decided that the Betas had won the intramural trophy for 1933 by nosing out their nearest competitors, the Kappa Sigs by 100½ points. The Betas collected 207 points followed by the Kappa Sigs with 106½ points. The Phi Gams were close behind with 103 and the Phi Deltas were fourth with 91½. Our Professors managed to gain 75 points and the Sigma Chis were next with 53½. The rest of the participants were in this order: Independents, 49; Delta Taus, 36½; Lambda Chis, 29; and Tekes, 27.

Despite the fact that the Betas won an overwhelming victory competition was very close in each event. All sports were played well and each fraternity seemed to take a very great interest in the contests. Varsity material in some sports was uncovered in some instances. Every sport was finished although the track meet was called off because not enough men had trained to make it possible. However, from the looks of those who were working out it would have been exceptionally good.

BACHELOR STAFF WILL HOLD MEETING TUESDAY

Complete Organization on Schedule for 1:30 in Basement of Peck Hall at Offices

First meeting of The Bachelor staff will be held next Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 in the basement of Peck Hall. All freshmen who are interested in journalism and those who worked last year should be present.

William Hunter, managing editor, will have charge of the production of the paper, and at this meeting sub editors will be appointed to take care of the various departments of the paper.

A large number of freshmen are desired at this meeting as an entirely new system of organization will be placed in effect, in which every man will have a specified job to do in a certain department. No previous journalistic experience is necessary, and the only requisite is an interest in writing or working on The Bachelor. Anyone who has had experience in the makeup of a paper or in other technical jobs not connected with reporting should also be present at this meeting.

SCARLET MASQUE WILL ORGANIZE TUESDAY NIGHT

Organization of the Scarlet Masque, dramatic club, will take place at the first meeting of the group next Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Beta Theta Pi house.

At this meeting plans will be discussed for the coming year, and officers will be elected to carry on the production of the plays. Last year the Scarlet Masque had an extremely successful season, climaxing the production of three plays with the prison drama, "The Last Mile" by John Wexley.

All old members of the Masque are urged to be present at this meeting so that the organization may be well situated to repeat the successes of last year.

MISS EMILY SCHLEMMER BECOMES BRIDE IN JUNE

Early last June after the close of school Miss Emily Schlemmer, Crawfordsville, became the bride of Ferguson Reddie Ormes, professor of Economics at Wabash. The couple left immediately for a honeymoon in the West where they remained all summer, only recently returning to the home of the groom at 9 Mills Place for the opening of college.

TEAM WILL HAVE EXPERIENCE WITH MANY FROM VARSITY AND FRESHMAN SQUADS OUT

COACHES VAUGHAN AND GOLDSBERRY PREPARE MEN FOR OPENING GAME AGAINST HANOVER SEPTEMBER 29; SQUAD LIGHT AND FAST

UNFINISHED REGISTRATION SHOWS GAIN IN STUDENTS

Plummer Makes Forecast of Size of Enrollment; More Upperclassmen Back Than Usual

Registration this year is running ahead of last year according to John M. Plummer, alumni secretary, with the official registering all complete.

The final figures will not be released for some time, but from all indications a larger number will be in school this year than was last. The increase is due to a larger number of returning students rather than to a large freshman class, as the latter seems to be about the same size as last year's class. Late registration figures will probably swell the total until it is well above that of past years, or approximately 370 students.

Forty-four men have reported to Coach Pete Vaughan as candidates for the Little Giant football team, and due partly to the size of the squad and partly to the quality of the material, prospects are brighter for a winning squad than they have been for two years.

Seventeen of these are lettermen, and nine others won numerals on the freshman squad. In addition to these the majority of the others have had varsity experience. As usual the team will be comparatively light, the whole squad averaging around 170, and one of the strongest lineups at present writing approximately 174. An average of all the linemen out gives 177 pounds to the man, while the backs will average a little over 160 pounds.

Thus far practice has been limited to work on fundamentals in the main with a little signal work. Limbering up exercises have played an important part in getting the squad into shape, and for a number of boys the number of the boys was disappointing of an undue amount, but most of that has disappeared by now.

Practice was held twice a day up until classes started Thursday, and from now on once a day will be the schedule as Vaughan and Assistant Coach Alonzo Goldsberry whip the Cavemen into shape for their first tilt with Hanover, September 29, two weeks from tomorrow. The game will be played here, as will five of the eight games on the schedule. Other home foes will be Manchester, Rose Poly, Butler, and Franklin, while Evansville, Washington of St. Louis, and DePauw will be met on foreign fields. A complete schedule appears elsewhere in this issue of The Bachelor.

The lettermen out for the squad and their weights are Berns, halfback, 194; Clabaugh, halfback, 153; Davis, guard, 173; Gerow, fullback, 180; Gewecke, halfback, 158; John Hoke, fullback, 167; Long, end, 152; Joyce, tackle, 199; Luzar, fullback, 168; Mueller, center, 184; Reinert, guard, 166; Stierwalt, guard, 176; Snyder, quarterback, 142; Vosloh, guard, 173; Blackmore, guard and center, 178; Schwartz, center, 190; Riggs, halfback, 160.

Men from the freshman squad of last year who won their numerals are Baker, halfback, 149; Fishero, a halfback on the squad two years ago, 151; G. Hoke, end, 173; Miller, tackle, 172; Streibich, center, 155; Moring, guard, 175; White, quarterback, 152; Herr, halfback, 148; Murbarger, fullback, 162.

Others who have had previous experience are Wolff, tackle, and Home, end. Wolff won his numerals at Northwestern as a freshman two years ago, while Home got into several games last year although he failed to win his letter. Adler is another who saw service in the backfield last year but did not receive an award.

Others on the squad are Baldauf, center; Burkhardt, tackle; Downey, half back; Hollett, end; Howell, end; Hurt, end; Kinsley, halfback; Mason, end; Meyers, tackle; Nelson, halfback; Tower, end; Visscher, tackle; and Terhune, tackle.

Pennsylvania Press Accepts Book by Brigance

During the past summer Dr. W. Norwood Brigance, head of the speech department, has revised his biography of Jeremiah Black, and the work has been published by the Pennsylvania Press and is now among the fifteen fall offerings of that organization.

Dr. Brigance has been working on this biography for several years, and it is the first volume ever published on that noted figure of American politics, Jeremiah Black. In addition to this work on Black, Dr. Brigance is also the author of "The Spoken Word", a speech text widely used throughout the country. He has also compiled a book of classified speech models.

Since coming to Wabash ten years ago, Dr. Brigance has been instrumental in bringing Wabash to the fore, especially in speech activities. It was he who organized the first college speakers' bureau in the country here at Wabash. Through this medium speakers are furnished free of charge to those organizations desiring them, thus giving the students a wider range of experience than would otherwise be possible, and also adding greatly to the Wabash reputation.

Under his coaching Wabash oratory has reached a new high level with five state oratorical contests winners in the last ten years and four state peace contest winners. And we all join in congratulating Dr. Brigance on his latest triumph.

The Pennsylvania Press has this to say about the book in its fall list of fifteen:

"Few figures in the history of American law are so dynamic and colorful as Jeremiah Sullivan Black, member of Buchanan's Cabinet and legal gladiator during the tragic era of Reconstruction. Brilliant, provocative, endowed with a magnificent oratorical skill and a vast legal learning, Black wielded a tremendous influence in his day which left its permanent mark on American history. This first biography, written in vivid style worthy of its subject, gives a dramatic picture of the man and also supplies a splendid interpretation of Civil War

America. Black early came into prominence as District Judge and Chief Justice in Pennsylvania. Later as Attorney-General and Secretary of State under Buchanan he began to mold American constitutional law by his decisions. As a private citizen during the Reconstruction he actually reformed the 13th and 14th Amendments through his defense of cases of States Rights. Eccentric, but always courageous, he faced political opposition, loss of fortune, and personal grief with a dauntless will and lived to be a power among his contemporaries even though holding no public office. His life was one of unswerving devotion to the highest principles of American government."

The price of the book is $3.50 and several Wabash students should be interested in securing a copy, as it is an important work to those interested in American political figures.

In writing the biography the following were the chief sources consulted:

The 6,000 letters and documents in the Black Papers in the Library of Congress; the 150 letters in the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, the 100 papers in the Carey E. Etnier collection at York, Pa.; the four volumes of papers and documents in the possession of Black's granddaughter in Lockport, New York; the memoirs of Black published in the Philadelphia Press in 1881; the 200 volumes of Pennsylvania Supreme Court and United States Supreme Court records covering the years of Black's activities; the archives of the Secretary of State in Washington, D. C.; interviews with persons now living who knew Black personally; and the Washington, Philadelphia, and New York Newspapers of the years 1850 to 1883.

It includes an interpretation of the issues of the Civil War and Reconstruction, in which he played a singular and dynamic role; and a literary criticism of Black's forensic speaking. It includes also interesting and valuable new information on Buchanan, Andrew Johnson, and James A. Garfield, with whom Black was intimate as a friend and adviser. Two of its most interesting aspects are Black's handling of the California cases for which he received fees ranging as high as $180,000 for a single case, and of the Milligan case, arising in Indiana, on the issue of whether American citizens were entitled to the right of trial by jury. Finally, it includes a personal description of Black the man, a colorful and eccentric character, famed for his red wig, his startling eloquence, his love of Shakespeare, and his inveterate tobacco chewing even while addressing the Supreme Court.

On the flyleaf it carries these words from Othello, aptly fitting to Black's life: "Haply for I am Black . . . I am abused . . . Yet I have done the state some service, and they know't." The publishers have appropriately bound the volume in buckram, black in color with the title stamped in gold.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1934

WELCOME

To entering freshmen the term "Little Giants", "Hell Roarin' Five Hundred", and a host of others may now mean next to nothing. Within a month they will mean more, and by the time the year is over they will be so thoroughly a part of their feelings for Wabash that they will never be eradicated.

Even to the new comer the inspiring strains of "Old Wabash" and "Alma Mater" must carry the spirit of the school, but even these must be ripened in time before their true significance can be felt. It is our hope that with this welcome we may make these men feel more at home. Wabash is a school which offers much to those who desire to take advantage of its opportunities. Extracurricular activities open to the newcomer those fields in which he is most interested. Wabash wants you, the freshmen, to take part in these activities, wants you to both give to and receive from the grand traditions of the college.

FERA

Regardless of the fact that the New Deal has stirred up a wave of political controversy between the two major political parties, all Wabash men should nevertheless unite whole heartedly in support of at least one phase of the program, the F. E. R. A. (Federal Educational Reconstruction Act).

It is through the money thus supplied to Wabash that a great many students are able to continue their education, and through this a great many worth while improvements have been made on the campus and buildings. This year by an increased appropriation even more men will be given work which will start next Monday.

While the majority of projects for this year are probably already outlined, it might be well to suggest just a few improvements which should be included if they are not already. The first of these is the road through the northeastern part of the campus, passing by the greenhouse. This section of the drive is in a deplorable state of neglect, and reflects unfavorably upon visitors passing through the campus. This could easily be remedied.

Another improvement which might easily be made is either the remodeling or spading up of the old tennis court. As it stands today it is an eyesore to the campus, but with a little work it could again be made usable, but if that is not desired it should be spaded up, so that the grass would have a chance to grow.

Now the gym and the interior of the buildings have been redecorated it seems time to begin taking care of the external features of the campus and begin to make Wabash more presentable from the outside.

PUBLICATIONS

Last spring a "new deal" for publications began on the campus when they were freed from politics. Let us hope that they will remain so, but there is at least one other serious flaw in the working of publications on the campus, and that lies in the lack of co-operation among them.

Take for example The Bachelor and the News Bureau. These two organizations are both in the same field, that is they seek to thorough cover the campus news. And yet for several years, at least, there has been virtually no co-operation between the two. Each goes its own way, and have no mutually beneficial contacts. With this issue The Bachelor staff is starting out a new year. The News Bureau has already begun its work. There is no reason why there cannot be more co-operation in the matter of handling news.

There is doubtlessly much needless duplication of work in covering assignments under the present system, and there is also probably a great deal of news that goes undiscovered by both, because usually staffs are too small to cover every possible source. Cooperation would benefit both organizations, and The Bachelor hereby offers its aid to the News Bureau whenever it may be needed. We only hope that this may lead to better relations between all publications and that as a group they may be more closely welded together so as to cover all of the various phases of journalism.

Alma Mater

Words and Music by Carroll Ragan, ex-'01, A.M., '19

Dear Alma Mater, at thy shrine of cherished memories.
The hosts of Wabash meet to pledge undying loyalty.
Within these sacred portals thy fires shall brightly flame,
And herald our devotion to thy most honored name.

These fleeting years we tarry here beneath the Scarlet sway,
Beguide us with their subtle charms, then quickly steal away.
Do thou, our Alma Mater, turn back the hands of time—
Give us this joy forever, and keep our faith sublime.

O, Alma Mater, in thy hands rests all our hopes and fears;
Thou counsellor in College days—thou guide in riper years,
Grant now thy benediction; vouchsafe thy care benign,
That, worthy, we may follow the precepts that are thine.

The last refuge of overworked freshmen on the Wabash campus has finally fallen before the relentless march of progress. The old chapel is a place of gloom no more, and what nightmares are doomed to trouble the luckless rhymies who attempt to catch up on their sleep during the past week while theoretically attending one of the C. C. lectures.

In fact in our opinion the new splendor of the old chapel puts the new one to shame, and it won't be long now before we petition the administration to let us go back there to here Obed whistle.

Football men seem to have been taking it on the chin these last few days from the way things sound. Maybe they just weren't in shape, but that doesn't make it any easier on exercise caller Long who complains that he makes a new enemy every day. Pete and Goldy seem to enjoy it though, so everybody is happy but the football men.

Perhaps there might have been a few of us who came back to school to rest up. From the looks of things most of the resting up thus far has been done the day after the night before. Oh, well, such things can't last forever.

The schedule makers seem to have given the boys a pretty rotten deal this year. Eight o'clock seem to be the rule rather than the exception, and are the fellows howling about Saturday eleven o'clocks.

This is just Joe Collyum subbing for Quintus Flavius Maximus. The truth of the matter is we haven't decided who Q. F. M. is going to be this year yet. Our best prospect fell in the drink and came home too wet to write.

FRESHMAN RULES REMAIN THE SAME AS LAST YEAR

Senior Council Issues Statement; Pots Must be Worn Wednesday With Inspection After Chapel

There will be no change in freshman rules this year it was stated yesterday by a member of the Senior Council. This means that pots must be worn next Wednesday and that there will be a pot inspection immediately after chapel at that time.

Other rules include tipping pots to seniors and faculty members, and no smoking on the campus. Pot rules are that they must be worn at all times except when on dates or with parents, except on Sundays. Freshmen, however, must wear their pots when going to and from their dates. It is not necessary to wear a pot when leaving town.

Although no definite dates have been set freshmen will be required to learn "Old Wabash" and "Alma Mater" in the immediate future. Probable dates are this coming Friday for "Old Wabash" and the following Friday for "Alma Mater". For the convenience of the freshmen both songs are published in this issue of The Bachelor.

During the coming week smokers will be held at the various fraternity houses for the freshmen to assist them in learning the songs and yells. Definite dates for these functions will be announced in chapel during the coming week.

Automobile Regulations

Careless or excessive driving of automobiles by anybody endangers life and disturbs the peace of the community; it also interferes with the business of the person driving and increases his opportunities for getting into trouble. At the same time, the automobile is a part of the equipment of the present time, and ability to use it properly is an accomplishment suitable to an educated citizen. In view of these considerations the following regulations will govern the use of automobiles by students at Wabash College:

- 1 No student is permitted to use an automobile without applying for registration as a user on the face of this form; and having his application approved.
- 2 No student is permitted to use an automobile without the consent of his parents or guardian secured by correspondence with the Dean's office.
- 3 Students will not use automobiles for pleasure-driving between 8 A. M. Monday and 4 P. M. Friday while the college is in session.
- 4 Students requiring the daily or frequent use of an automobile for good cause will secure from the Dean a permit for such use.
- 5 Students will not ride or permit others to ride on the running boards.
- 6 Students will not drive with the driver's seat crowded, or with the automobile overloaded.
- 7 The administration of the college will, on occasion, require verification of the safety of students' automobiles.
- 8 Lawful driving such as becomes a decent citizen will be expected at all times.

MARY ELLEN STEPHENS
WEDS WABASH GRADUATE

Sister of William Stephens Marries George Metcalf, Class of 28, on September 1

Sunday, September 1, one week before the opening of college the sister of one Wabash student, Miss Mary Ellen Stephens, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. R. Allan Stephens of Springfield, Ill., became the bride of a Wabash graduate, George J. Metcalf, now instructor in German at Harvard university.

The wedding was held at the First Methodist church at Springfield, and the ceremony was performed by Dr. Joseph R. Harker, the grandfather of the groom. The date was exactly thirty-one years after the wedding of the bride's parents, and she wore the same bridal gown as her mother. Miss Elinor Cook of Springfield was the only attendant of the bride, while Edwin Saye of Jacksonville, Ill., was the best man.

Miss Stephens is the sister of William C. Stephens, now a senior here, and he and his three brothers, Robert A., Charles B., and Page P. Stephens were the ushers.

Metcalf attended Munich university in Germany following his graduation here in 1928, and since his return has been living in Cambridge, Mass., and teaching at Harvard.

Both Metcalf and Stephens are members of Kappa Sigma, and Charles Stephens was in school during the time Metcalf was here.

Old Wabash

From the hills of Maine to the western plain, or where the cotton is blowing,
 From the gloomy shade of the northern pine, to the light of the southern seas;
 There's a name held dear and a color we cheer wherever we find it glowing
 And the tears will rise to our longing eyes as it floats on the evening breeze.
 When the day is done and the setting sun is painting in flashing glory
 Across the sky with its gorgeous dyes, the color we love so well,
 We love to sit as the shadows flit, and praise it in song and story
 We love to shout ere the light dies out a good old Wabash yell.

Refrain:

Our prayers are always thine, our voices and hearts combine
 To sing thy praise when future days shall bring thy name before us
 When college days are past, as long as life shall last,
 Our greatest joy will be to shout the chorus.

Chorus:

Dear Old Wabash, thy loyal son shall ever love thee,
 And o'er thy classic halls the scarlet flag shall proudly flash
 Long in our hearts we'll bear the sweetest mem'ries of thee
 Long shall we sing thy praises, Old Wabash.

And loud and long shall echo the song, 'till hill and valley are ringing,
 And spread the fame of her honored name, wherever the breezes blow.
 'Till sweet and clear the world shall hear the sons of Wabash singing,
 And flying free the world shall see, the scarlet banner go.

The honors won by each loyal son, in highest rank shall instate her
 For evermore as in days of yore, their deeds be noble and grand;
 Then once again, ye Wabash men, three cheers for Alma Mater
 What e'er befalls, revered by all, may she unequalled stand.

Refrain and Chorus:

THREE NEW FACES WILL BE PRESENT OF FACULTY

Trippet, Cox, and Stanford Are New Instructors; All are Graduates of Wabash

Two, Norman Cox, '30, and Clement Stanford, '31, will take places as instructors in the science department, while the other, Byron Trippet will major in the social sciences.

Cox, who was a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon while in school, has been studying at Brown University since his graduation won his Ph.D. in chemistry this year and will take Associate Professor Frederick C. M. Smith's place as instructor in Physical Chemistry. He will be remembered as a first baseman on the Little Giant team, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and the Sphinx Club.
